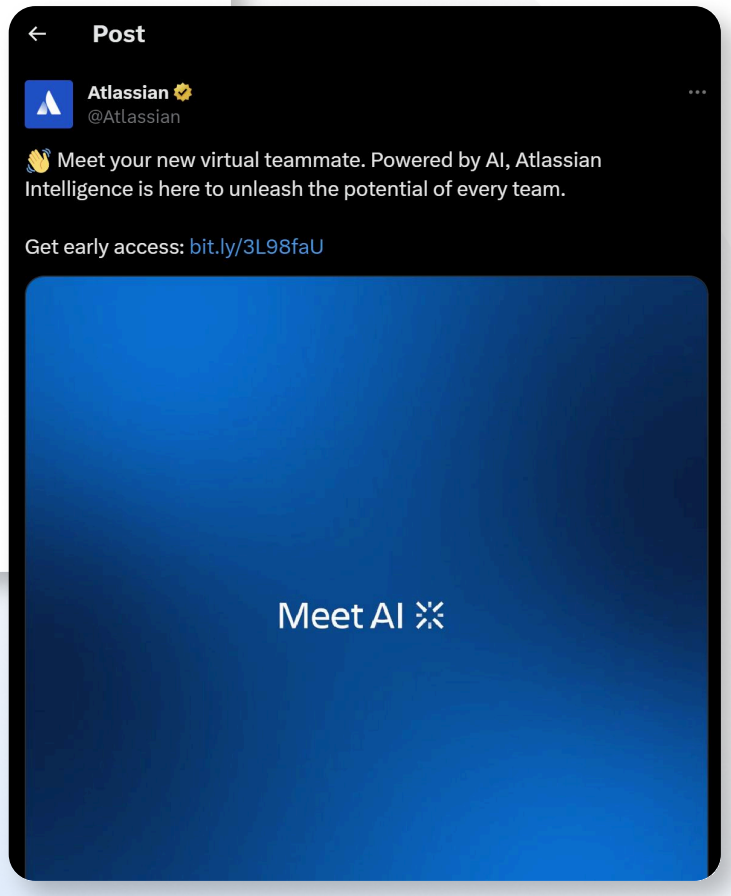
Say hello to your new AI-powered virtual teammate

Throughout history, teams have been at the heart of humanity's greatest achievements. Atlassian is committed to unleashing the potential of every team, helping them accomplish what's impossible alone. Our collaboration tools and practices help over 250,000 customers tackle tasks big and small, from space missions to climate change, from bugs in code to equipment requests.

Today, Artificial intelligence (AI) is driving a seismic transformation that's changing the way we work. AI has the potential to take teamwork to the next level, dramatically accelerating what teams can achieve. We have already been using machine learning to enhance core experiences in our products for years, from personalized search to recommending people and teams to bring into collaboration.


With AI technology advancing rapidly, we're excited to share how we're
